Erik Gamess

Universidad Central de Venezuela

Master degree in Automatics and Computer Science (D.E.A.) from I.N.S.A in Toulouse, France.

Arturo J. Sánchez Ruíz

Arturo J. Sánchez Ruíz holds an MS and PhD degrees from Renssealer Polytechnic Institute (Troy, N.Y.) a bachelor degree from Universidad Central de Venezuela (magna Cum Laude) all in Computer Science. He has been teaching CS related courses for 13 years at the undergraduated, graduated and industry lavels. He also participated in research projects sponsored by venezuelan and US agencies. His research areas are Generic Programming, Interoperability, Knowledge Discovery and CS education. He is an assistant professor with the CIS Departament of the University of Massachusetts, and member of ACM and IEEE CS Society.